Hello Everyone:

We have a very busy August coming up! See the update on the Brazos Gardens and contact information to volunteer to assist with our Daylily Sales. We need labelers, sorters, and baggers as well as diggers on those work days, so we can use your help in whatever way you are able to assist.

The Brazos Garden Team met on July 13 and came up with the plans you will read about in this newsletter. We all owe this team a big thanks for taking on the planning and tasks needed to make the most of Blaise's generosity to CMHS.

Reports on the winners of our Daylily Show on July 1 will be reported in the next regular newsletter in Sept.

Columbia and our surrounding towns are really becoming daylily showcases as we spread the love.

Carol Schultz, CMHS President

Brazos Garden update:

Brazos Garden Liaison contact Karen@kewpie.net

The Brazos Garden Team met on July 13 to outline activities and agree upon procedures. Members of the team attending were Karen Blackmore, Charlene Larkin, Debbie Nix, and Nancy Rold. Joan Goodwin was unable to attend and Carol Schultz attended as an ex-officio member. Nancy Rold agreed to be the Lead on identifying a Brazos seedling that could be named for Blaise as a memorial to him. The following people have dug some of the named flowers and seedlings for further evaluation and/or to bring to the fall sales: Karen Blackmore, Joan Goodwin, Debbie Nix, Nancy Rold, Susan Kitchen, Steve & Becca Winters. The Brazos family has marked some flowers they especially liked with wooden stakes.

Karen met with University of Missouri officials about re-creating a daylily garden at MU. Pete Millier and Jenna Rossum of the MU Horticulture Dept. advised Karen that they have employed an Intern, Adam Steffan, who can assist with digging and replanting some of the daylilies. At this time they will distribute these around campus with the idea that at some later date a Memorial Garden will be designated. Adam has already been to all 3 Brazos gardens and marked quite a few of the named cultivars for MU with an orange MU flag. Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri, Inc. (FGGM) donated money a few years back to sponsor an intern in the horticulture dept. and this is the first year a qualified student has stepped forward to claim the job. FGCM, of which Karen is the Missouri State President this 2-year term, has a motto/goal of "Partners in Planting America". Partnering with CMHS on our annual Daylily Show and having access to an intern to assist with this MU project fit this goal perfectly.

As was mentioned at the last meeting, any member of CMHS can go to dig plants at any of the Brazos gardens. Any of our friends or associates who are not CMHS members must be accompanied by a CMHS member.

The group questioned whether this would be much of an incentive, but anyone who volunteers on the 2 work days described elsewhere will be entitled to dig and take a flower of their choice.
